Guiding Principles

CSUEB supports assessment as an on-going process of exploration and discussion in the university community about the education and experience we provide to students and about our responsibilities to each other to ensure that our work is achieving our shared goals in the Institutional Learning Outcomes. CSUEB rejects a compliance model of assessment.

The faculty and principles of shared governance are at the center of the conversation on curriculum and interpreting and acting on assessment data.

Assessment data is collected at the University
